Historic Evening

Acclaimed author and historian Dr. Stephen Ambrose reads a chapter from "A Love Song to America," a book he's still writing, to an enthralled crowd Thursday evening at Da Beach House in Bay St. Louis.

Ambrose speaks on illness, race relations and offers 'A Love Song to America'

"First of all," Dr. Stephen Ambrose said Thursday evening to paraphrase another famous author, "rumors of my death are greatly exaggerated."

Ambrose's Twain-ism came Thursday during "Talk About: An Evening with Stephen Ambrose," at Da Beach House in Bay St. Louis. It was his first official public speaking engagement since reports he had been diagnosed with lung cancer became public last month.

Ambrose spoke briefly about his illness. He said he had been working on a book about the

Bay leaves no headstone unturned

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Bay St. Louis police are still trying to solve a mystery that began on April 19, when officers found two marble headstones near the Washington St. Pier. So far police have no clues as to who transported the heavy stones to the beach area, or to which cemetery they belong.

The case, which is being investigated by Detective Ernest Taylor is being treated as a case of malicious mischief. Police are asking anyone with information about the headstones to call the department at 467-9221. Names on the stones are Andrew Berhel, born Aug. 4, 1880, who died on Dec. 10, 1946, and Maggie Berhel, born Jan. 15, 1888, who died Aug. 7, 1960.

Family members or friends are encouraged to call detectives so the headstones can be returned to their rightful places.

Bayside woman jailed for bestiality

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

A Bayside Park resident was charged with two counts of bestiality, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Chief Investigator Bob Lambert, and a second party is being sought in the matter.

"On May 10, we received a telephone call from FujiColor Processing of New York alleging a subject by the name of David Ray Bookter residing at 6105 E. Grenda, Bayside Park, submitted inappropriate subject matter for their terms described on their web site and (items that were) also illegal," Lambert said.

FujiColor employees told Lambert that the photos were discovered when the subject's images - along with others - were erased during a routine maintenance procedure. Bookter had deposited his film at a local Hancock County merchant, and it was sent from there to Birmingham for processing.

"The case began when FujiColor contacted a person they believed to be Bookter at his e-mail address requesting he return his original negatives," Lambert said. "He forwarded them and they scanned and re-posted his images back to his account. They then processed a full set of prints out of courtesy for their error -

Sound & Spirit: A World Music event on the Gulf Coast

ECHO STAFF REPORT

American musicians, each teaching different forms of sacred music from around the world, are together this weekend for a public sacred World Music event, "Sound & Spirit MusicFest."

An intricate weaving of singing, dancing, drumming, teaching and performing, it is participatory, which means that those who go will learn music from each culture, rather than simply listen.

"Sound & Spirit MusicFest" continues today at Gulfside Methodist Assembly on Beach Boulevard in Waveland, adjacent to Buccaneer State Park.

It isn't necessary to know anything about music or any of the different sacred traditions to attend.

At 11 there will be a musical Universal Worship service honoring all the worlds spiritual traditions. Everyone is invited to the closing celebration Sunday afternoon beginning at 3.

Youth with disabilities gain leadership skills

How do you live your life when others say you won't live long enough to go to elementary school? Having dreams, support from a pushy mom and new laws for the disabled allowed Glen Gallivan, of Ocala, Fla., to go to his neighborhood school, participate in sports, attend college, and pursue his dream job.

Glen Gallivan will be one of the keynote speakers at the third annual Youth Leadership Conference to be held June 14 and 15 at the Clarion Hotel in Jackson.

Gallivan will encourage young people with disabilities between the ages of 14 and 23 and their parents to think a bit differently, try new things, and let go of old ideas that get in the way of making dreams come true.

The conference, "Racing to the Future in Good Health," is being sponsored by the Healthy Futures Project administered by the Coalition for Citizens with Disabilities, LIFE (Living Independence For Everyone), and the Children's Medical Program.

Healthy Futures is a grant from the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services, Maternal and Child Health Bureau.

"We realize that health plays a vital role in quality of life and improving employment opportunities. Young people with disabilities need skills in accessing good health care services, obtaining appropriate education, and seeking employment.

"Through this conference, we will provide valuable information and training to young people with disabilities that will help them transition from adolescence into adulthood so that they can live independently in the community and reach their full potential in life.

"We want to empower these young people and their families to take leadership roles," says Healthy Future Project Director Sam Gleese.

There is no registration fee for the conference, but advance registration is required. Scholarships are also available to cover costs of lodging and transportation for those living in other areas of the state.

All young people with special health care needs between the ages of 14 and 23 are eligible to attend. Parents and guardians are also welcome.

For more information or registration materials, contact Sam Gleese, Healthy Futures, Coalition for Citizens with Disabilities at 969-0601 or 1-800-748-9420.

Seat belt crackdown to target teens during Memorial Week

The largest nationwide seat belt enforcement effort ever will kick off this week as more than 11,000 law enforcement agencies in all 50 states conduct child passenger safety, seat belt and drunk driving checkpoints and other special enforcement activities as part of the Operation ABC Mobilization.

The enforcement effort will place special emphasis on protecting teens and young adults this Memorial Day week as new data show more than half of all teens who die in crashes are completely unrestrained.

"Our teens and young adults are dying at far higher rates in crashes because they are caught in a lethal intersection of inexperience, risk taking and low seat belt use," said National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) Administrator Jeffrey W. Runge, M.D.

"We can save lives because these tragedies are predictable, and therefore preventable with proven techniques like high visibility enforcement mobilizations."

According to the new data from NHTSA's Fatal Analysis Reporting Systems (FARS), 4,437 teens, ages 16-19, died and thousands more were injured in traffic crashes in 2000.

Fatality rates for teens are twice that of older drivers, and the risk of crashes for teens are four times that of older drivers. Approximately 8,000 Americans - adults and children - will die in crashes simply because they failed to buckle their seat belts.

"I remember thinking that I was invincible when I was their age," said Chuck Hurley, executive director of the Air Bag & Seat Belt Safety Campaign.

"Messages about the safety benefits of seat belts usually fall on deaf ears, but young drivers need to know that law enforcement officers will be writing plenty of tickets."

The week-long enforcement wave, which runs from May 20-27, will be supported by more than $8 million in federal funding for advertising to ensure the buckle up message reaches those least likely to obey the law and use seat belts including teens and young adults.

The Congressionally mandated program expands a proven model of high visibility enforcement, which is credited with increasing belt use by 8-12 percent on a state and regional basis.

The Operation ABC Mobilization is conducted twice yearly by the Air Bag & Seat Belt Safety Campaign of the National Safety Council in conjunction with law enforcement agencies, NHTSA, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) and the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB).

In addition to state advertising, the Air Bag & Seat Belt Safety Campaign will feature a new TV ad aimed at young men to air on MTV and TNN now through May 22.

"We want to reach those least likely to buckle up and most likely to die," Hurley said. "The new ad is designed to get the enforcement message to young people in programs they watch in a format they can relate to."

NASA research helps communities around the country prepare for coming flood season

Next to fire, floods are the most common and widespread of all natural disasters. As communities around the nation prepare for this year's flood season, Earth scientists at NASA's Stennis Space Center are at work on several projects to help communities better understand flood risk.

Flood insurance - not typically included in traditional homeowner's insurance - is one essential element of flood-risk planning. Communities must meet Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA)-approved flood mapping requirements to be eligible for flood insurance.

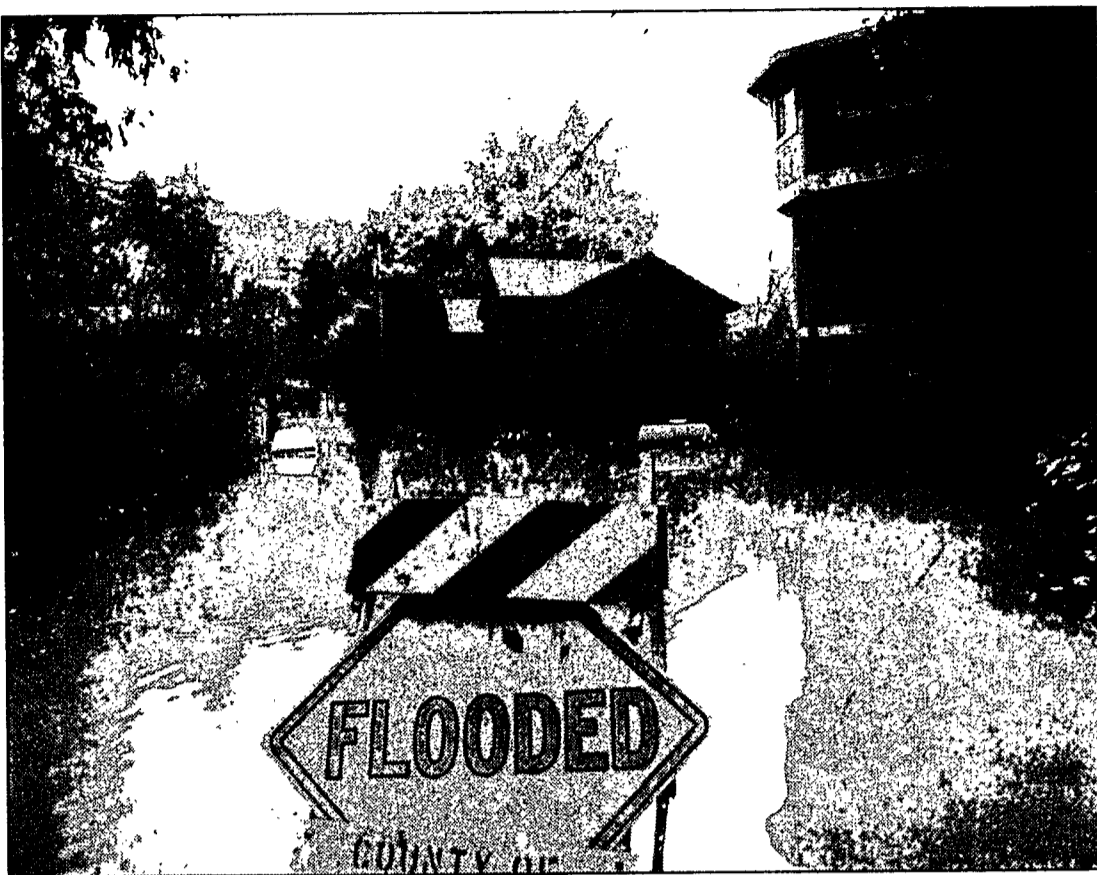

Flood insurance premiums are based, in part, on flood-risk maps, which contain detailed information on a community's risk of flood. These maps are prepared using remotely sensed data about the Earth collected from distant vantage points.

One type of remote sensing system called light intensity detection and ranging (LIDAR) collects data by sending and receiving pulses of light. Scientists interpret LIDAR data to detect tiny changes in the Earth's topography and thus predict exactly where floodwaters will go and how they will behave.

The accuracy of LIDAR data depends on the number of pulses that are sent and received per meter of coverage.

However, the more accurate the data, the more expensive it is for communities to acquire. The optimal pulse rates and coverage for LIDAR data for flood mapping is not yet known.

To get the best flood-risk

Earth scientists at NASA's Stennis Space Center are at work on projects in North Carolina, Texas and Mexico to help communities better understand flood risk. These efforts hold potential to benefit areas such as this California neighborhood that was devastated when El Niño storms flooded the Russian River in 1998. Photo by Dave Gately, FEMA.

mapping results for their money, communities need technical requirements guidelines. This is where NASA's Earth scientists can help.

Current and future NASA research projects in North Carolina, Texas and Mexico will help determine appropriate LIDAR accuracy in flood-risk mapping by examining optimum light-pulse rates and the costs associated with those levels of accuracy.

These data will help FEMA update their minimum LIDAR accuracy requirements and assist communities considering flood-risk mapping.

"Qualifying results is critical for the most efficient use of LIDAR in flood mapping," said

Dr. Bruce Davis, NASA's acting chief of engineering for the Earth Science Applications Directorate. "This project is the first one of its type and has the potential to help FEMA set flood mapping standards and save communities money in flood risk mapping and insurance costs."

"As a research and development agency, NASA has a fundamental understanding of how remote sensing works," said Davis. Since NASA does not provide flood-risk mapping services to communities, it can remain objective in its technical recommendations for mapping requirements.

Davis, who hopes to organize a workshop in the early summer for flood mapping experts, notes that continued applied research in this area is critical for finding the balance between flood mapping accuracy and cost savings.

"NASA's flood mapping projects are a first look at optimal LIDAR requirements," he said. "Much more work is needed in order to apply the best information to the most critical questions about flood mapping."

Boys and Girls Clubs Steak & Steak Dinner and Silent Auction scheduled

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast and Outback Steakhouse will host the 11th annual Steak & Steak Dinner & Silent Auction, Tuesday, July 30.

The evening kicks off with a pre-dinner reception and silent auction at 5:30 p.m. at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum Convention Center.

The Steak & Steak Dinner is a celebration held by clubs across the country - and it is the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast's largest annual fund-raising event.

Last year the event contributed over $120,000 to the organization's numerous programs in character and leadership development, health and life skills, education and career development, the arts, and sports, fitness and recreation.

The 11th annual Steak & Steak Dinner is by chaired Imperial Palace General Manager John Maclean. Co-chair for the event is Gloria Newman, owner of Creative Learning Center in Biloxi.

The featured speaker for

this year's dinner will be pro-football legend Herschel Walker. Walker participates in many charities, including the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Children's Hospital of Macon, Georgia, and the United Way.

Over 500 community leaders, elected officials, business leaders and volunteers as well as 300 Club Members are expected to attend this year's event.

The highlight of this year's dinner will be the presentation of Youth Awards and the announcing of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast's 2002-2003 "Youth of the Year."

Last year's winner, Krystal Madden, went on to win the State of Mississippi "Youth of the Year" title.

Last year the clubs had over 2,500 members ranging in age from six to eighteen, and served an additional 13,000+ youth through various Outreach Programs in Biloxi, Gulfport, Pass Christian, and Piquette.

The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast, a United Way agency, will directly benefit from all proceeds generated from this event.

Funds raised will assist in costs associated with operational, programming and outreach services for the clubs' seven units and activity center.

If you would like to donate an auction item, purchase a seat, or sponsor a table at one of our sponsorship levels ranging from $500 to $5,000, contact 228-374-2330 or visit website www.bgcgulfcoast.org.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce May Business After Hours will be Thursday, May 23, 5 to 7 p.m. at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Sponsors are Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and Cellular South.

This will also be a good time to meet the chamber's new executive director, Tish Haas Williams. Many folks in the area know Tish, yet there are several who do not know her. So it will be a time to renew old friendships with Tish and establish new friendships.

When the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and Cellular South, Cary Trapani manager, sponsor an After Hours, there is always good food and refreshments.

So make sure you remember the After Hours next Thursday evening at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

P.S. Bring along a couple of business cards, because there will be several door prizes.

Congratulations need to go to John Baxter, general chairman of the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. Knowing John, he would want to include each and every one who participate in one way or another.

In Hancock County's record-breaking Relay for Life, more than $40,000 was raised on the night of May 10 at the Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center.

There was a goal of $23,000, and it was almost doubled. Great work, John, and all your great helpers.

There were over 35 teams participating in the 12-hour event. Team Wal-Mart raised the most money.

It just shows what can happen when lots of folks get together and in addition to talk, do the walk.

Since you did such a great job this year, John, they may even approach you to be chairman next year, too.

By the way, the Bay St.

Louis Rotary Club's Cajun fried turkey po-boys were great.

Congratulations are in order for my friend Myron Webb, public affairs officer for NASA at the Stennis Space Center in Hancock County.

Myron received the Public Relations Association of Mississippi's Professional Achievement Award at the state conference recently held in Hattiesburg.

Myron, her husband Kevin and son Justin are residents of Diamondhead.

In addition to her responsibilities at Stennis, Webb is very much involved in the community as a board member on the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Earlier this year she was also honored and received the PRAM's Mississippi Beach Chapter's top honor - the Rex Kelly Professional Achievement Award, established in 2001 to honor and recognize founding member Rex Kelly, who heads the Corporate Communications Department for Mississippi Power Company.

Being public affairs officer for NASA at Stennis is a very important position, and Webb has 'opened many doors' for the general public at the nation's top testing facility.

Congratulation again, Myron.

Foster Luke and his sister Ileana Luke of DeMontluzin Street in Bay St. Louis awoke Friday morning to find that someone had lifted their American flag from its pole.

The Lukes, who are natives of Bay St. Louis, had two brothers, Leroy and Forest, who served our country during WW II. Forest Luke was killed in action, and Leroy Luke died several years ago.

Foster and Ileana fly the flag in memory of their brothers and feel it is a shame someone had the nerve to steal something so dear to them.

Making education reform work no easy task

With President Bush's dramatic bipartisan education reform package successfully passed by Congress, America must now translate this historic legislation into tangible classroom results.

Perhaps nowhere is this more important than in Mississippi, where I believe improving education is essential if we are to retain existing jobs and recruit new ones.

Just as political leaders from all parties and points of view joined the President in passing education reform, so too must Mississippi's parents, teachers, school administrators and community leaders now put aside personal politics and concentrate on making these popular reforms work for our children.

Turning legislation into solid success is why President Bush and Secretary of Education Rod Paige, a Mississippi native, are touring schools throughout our country, stressing the need for increased accountability, improved teacher quality, parental involvement and a focus on reading skills.

Both of these men came to Washington with a virtually undisputed successful record of educational reform in Texas - a proven formula which has given birth to the bipartisan "No Child Left Behind Act," which Congress passed and the President signed in January.

Under this landmark legislation, states and school districts will receive additional flexibility and reduced federal red tape. They will have the ability to transfer and consolidate funds, encouraging innovation and new thinking.

To promote higher student performance, the new law requires a highly qualified teacher in every classroom. Also, parents will have access to more information about their children's education.

Moreover, every school in America will have new tools to ensure that children can learn to read - which is the basic foundation for all education, and all occupations.

This legislation calls on states to be more responsible for setting strong academic standards, especially in the subjects of reading,

Mississippi has been heard loud and clear - on the other side of the world

During last week's economic development mission to Japan, I met with dozens of government officials and private industry leaders. Their response to the message I brought to them was strong, and sent a clear signal that Mississippi is taken seriously by the global business community.

It's important to do everything possible to create quality, high-paying jobs for the people of the state, and that includes traveling to other countries to let them know what we have to offer.

It's good, though, to be back home. There's no better feeling that coming back to a place that's familiar, comfortable and welcoming. It's something we all know. It's in the sights, the sounds, and the smells.

We experienced it as children, heading back into the house after being in school or playing all day. We feel it as adults, returning from a long business trip or after a particularly hard day at work. It's a feeling people around the world know, but haven't really experienced, until they come to see us.

It's time for the rest of the world to come home to Mississippi.

The new tag line for the Mississippi Development Authority's Division of Tourism is simple, and says it all: "Mississippi: Feels Like Coming Home."

For those of us who have grown up here or lived in Mississippi for any length of time, we understand how true this new advertisement is. We can appreciate the smell of the woods on a fall morning, the taste of true southern "comfort food," and the gentle comfort of visiting with friends and family on the front porch.

We're focusing on sharing this feeling with others. Since September 11, the importance of tourism has been raised to a new level. Now, more than ever, we have the opportunity to emphasize and promote tourism as a major industry in Mississippi.

Tourism brings in more than $6 billion per year to Mississippi. And, with more than 94,000 jobs in the tourism industry, it is obviously an important part of our business community.

Last year, more than 34 million people visited the state.

Those people left with a new appreciation for our history, our culture and our entertainment venues. I don't have any doubt those people will want to return to visit again.

Our work now is to convince those who haven't visited that it's worth their while.

You'll be seeing and hear-

Listen to your radio for a great new song written just for this promotion, a song that really captures what Mississippi's about. Raphael Semmes, Jesse Robinson and Jewel Bass - three Mississippi originals - combine to paint a picture of the state in words and music.

We're blessed to live in this great state, and it's important for us to share what we have with others. Mississippi is familiar, comfortable and welcoming. Mississippi is full of the sights, the sounds and the smells people enjoy and relate to.

There's nothing quite like coming home.

Lott -- education reform

math and science throughout the elementary, middle and high school levels.

Beginning next school year, our schools will embark on a multi-year plan for improvement. Each school will be required to measure student progress and better target resources by administering tests in three "grade spans" - including grades 3-5, grades 6-9 and grades 10-12.

Beginning in the 2005-2006 school year, tests must be administered every year in grades 3-8, specifically in math and reading. Beginning in the 2007-2008 school year, science achievement must also be tested.

These are not unfunded federal mandates, as was too often the case in times past. Instead President Bush's FY 2003 budget requests $387 million to help states develop and implement these unprecedented accountability systems.

Of course, no education reform can work without quality teachers and quality parents. The provision in the No Child Left Behind Act requiring a highly qualified teacher in every classroom is to be fully met by the 2005-2006 school year.

The federal government will invest more than $4 billion this year alone to improve teacher quality and strengthen teacher recruitment throughout America.

Likewise, parents are also called upon to be actively engaged in this reform effort, and to give their child quality, concerned parenting.

In addition to the provisions that will provide parents new access to information about their child's education, this act gives low-income parents with children in failing schools the freedom to transfer their child to a better public school. This educational choice will ensure that no child is forced to attend a bad school.

As Mississippians, we have a lot at stake in this educational reform effort. Mississippi has some very good schools and teachers, but at the same time we obviously have too many failing efforts.

Though we all may have philosophical differences regarding the value of testing and the best means to measure results, there is no debate about the need to improve, Mississippi's schools.

We now have a solid, bipartisan educational reform package which seeks to completely reshape our educational system nationwide. The debate in Washington is over. Now all Americans, especially Mississippians, are responsible for making this education reform work.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn.: Press Office)

Steckler announces for District 8 chancery judge

District Eight, Place Three, Chancery Court Judge Sandy Steckler announced his candidacy for the post.

District Eight of the Chancery Court covers Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties. Prior to the Governor appointing him on December 31, 2001, to fill an unexpired term in that post, Sandy Steckler was an active trial lawyer in the chancery courts of Mississippi, where he had practiced for the past 35 years.

"Although the jurisdiction of the Chancery Court is very broad, its most important responsibility is the fair, just and speedy resolution of family matters, especially where children or the elderly are concerned," Steckler said.

"Because the chancellor serves as both judge and jury when hearing cases, his judgment and impartiality must never be in question."

"I pledge that I will continue to serve with honor and integrity, evenhandedly without bias or prejudice in favor of or against any litigant in his Court," he said.

Judge Sandy Steckler

giant in his Court," he said.

Mary Catholic Church, where he serves on the Pastoral Council.

Judge Steckler also was elected to serve in the Mississippi Legislature as a Senator from 1972 to 1980. While serving as a Senator, he assisted in the writing and editing of the Mississippi Code of 1972. He retired from the Legislature in order to spend time with his family and his community and to devote time to his law practice.

Steckler, a former president of the Harrison County Bar Association, has been active in many professional, civic, and charitable organizations.

He was chairman of the Harrison County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. He also served as president of the Easter Seal Society. The Heart Association, Committee chairman of the United Way, and president of Camp Wilkes. ## Triathlon brings communities together today for a good cause

The 1st annual Earth Events ECO Triathlon takes place today in Bay St. Louis. Registration begins at 7 a.m., and the race kicks off at 8 a.m.

The area's first triathlon - featuring kayaking, biking and running - will be followed by a beach party with music, food and refreshments and its all for a good cause.

"The ECO Triathlon is about bringing the communities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland together for a fun, friendly day at the beach," said Colleen Read of Earth Events.

"It will also give us a chance to show visitors the fantastic natural resources we have in the Bay. This is only the beginning - we want this to be a great annual event that locals and visitors look forward to each year."

All proceeds from the triathlon will benefit Earth Events, a non-profit organization based in Bay St. Louis that educates youth about the environment and healthy living through art, music and other creative means.

Earth Events is currently organizing a youth athletic club and is developing educational programs that focus on ecology, health and creativity.

"We've gotten great support from businesses in the area and from the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland," said Read.

Triathlon sponsors include ABC Rental, Cellular South, Integrity Sports & Specialties, Mombo' Graphics, Rex Distributing, and Tegarden Ice Company.

"At the beach party we'll have beer and other refreshments, great Gulf Coast cuisine provided by Bay City Grill, Brennan's and Trapani's and New Orleans' famous Lucky Dogs."

Other local companies have contributed door prizes, and many will have booths set up to display their goods and services.

The triathlon consists of a 2-mile kayak course in the Bay, a 12-mile bike down scenic Beach Boulevard to Buccaneer State Park, and concludes with a 5-kilometer run alongside the beach.

A separate youth triathlon (a half-mile kayak, 1-mile bike and half-mile run) will take place immediately following the adult race. The event also includes a relay competition that is open to all ages. Trophies will be awarded to the top overall male and female finishers and to the top finishers in each category.

Each triathlon participant will receive a race t-shirt designed by artist Chris Hill. All three legs of the race will take place in the vicinity of the beach from Bay St. Louis to Waveland. Spectators are encouraged to set up chairs along the course to cheer on participants and join the beach party afterwards.

The youth race promises to be particularly entertaining as the kids, the vast majority of them in their first triathlon, paddle, pedal and run toward the finish line. Following the youth triathlon, everyone is invited to participate in a non-competitive bike-a-thon to raise funds for St. Jude's Children's Hospital.

The event will take place in front of the Da Beach House in Bay St. Louis (604 S. Beach Boulevard at the Washington Street intersection). For registration forms and other information, contact Da Beach House at 228-467-1108 or 228-467-9477 or go to gulfcoastrunningclub.net.

St. Jude's bike-a-thon follows triathlon

Margaret Taylor will serve as coordinator of a bike-a-thon to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

The event is scheduled for today 19 and will be held on the bike path beginning and ending at the beach and Washington Street in Bay St. Louis.

Scheduled to begin at 2 p.m., the Bike-a-thon follows the Eco Triathlon in front of Da Beach House.

Citizens are invited to participate by gathering pledges and riding or making donations.

These funds will help St. Jude Hospital in the ongoing fight against childhood catastrophic diseases.

The goal of this event is to help children of the world who are stricken with diseases like cancer, AIDS and sickle cell anemia.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is a world leader in the fight against these diseases.

For more information or to volunteer, call Margaret Taylor at 466-3933 or 342-1012.

Local fundraiser doesn't directly benefit local fire departments

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

With money being tight these days, local fire departments want everyone to be aware of a fundraiser being conducted by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Professional Firefighters. The group is conducting a legitimate fundraiser, however, what people may not know is that none of the money collected will directly benefit any fire department in Hancock County, nor will it benefit many local fire departments in other coast counties.

The council represents the firefighters union and money goes only to the benefit of those communities who are members of the union, firefighters in Gulfport, Biloxi, Pascagoula, and Gautier.

"People need to know that none of this money comes to Hancock County," said Pearlinton Fire Chief Kim Jones. "It's a problem when people believe their money is going to support their local departments."

"I recommend that people give their support to their local fire departments," said Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia.

"This money does not go to benefit most local fire departments," said Moss Point Fire Chief Earl Etheridge.

A representative fundraiser at the Ocean Springs office of the Council confirmed that dollars raised go to communities that are members of the union.

"But other departments benefit indirectly because some of the money goes for lobby and legislation for better fire safety laws," she said.

Robo-kids

Hancock Middle School eighth grade students investigate the robots built by Pearl River Community College students through hands-on learning activities in instructor Dale Miller's college class.

HMS eighth grade visits PRCC

On April 13 Hancock Middle School eighth grade students visited Pearl River Community College (PRCC) in Poplarville to learn about various aspects of college life and to better understand the educational opportunities available after high school.

The visit began with Adam Breerwood, PRCC coach and teacher, welcoming the students and introducing the student tour guides for the day's activities. The first stop on the tour was a visit to the outside observatory. PRCC student tour guides then led a walking tour of the nursing building, wellness center, vocational building, technology center, library, academic classrooms, administration building, and residence halls.

After a sack lunch in the old gymnasium, HMS eighth graders participated in fitness activities, such as bat race relay, basketball free throw and hula hoop contest.

This PRCC visit, made possible through the Hancock County School District's School-to-Careers grant, allowed students to better understand campus life and the options available for their career future.

Ambrose

Ambrose said he is responding well to chemotherapy treatment, but his brush with death led him to shelve his other project for awhile and begin writing "A Love Song to America."

He encouraged audience members to move closer as he began reading a chapter from the unfinished book — a chapter devoted to racism and the improvements in American race relations in the past several years.

He spoke of his early experiences with racism, first as a 10-year-old in Pensacola; then as a teenager growing up in Wisconsin, then his first hard-core exposure to racial inequality as a young professor at what was then known as LSU-New Orleans.

Ambrose pointed to great figures such as Jackie Robinson and George Washington Carver who helped advance not only black culture, but all American society. He said the military, more than any other institution, has embraced integration and furthered true democratic spirit around the world.

"America still has a long way to go," Ambrose said, "but look how far we have come. And the triple pillars of that success are democracy, education and religious freedom."

After his reading, Ambrose fielded questions from the audience on subjects ranging from U.S. embargoes on Cuba to what first inspired him to write: "I sat down at a typewriter."

Crash

drifted into the path of a 1992 GMC truck driven in the southbound lane by James Simmons, 55, of McNeil.

The accident occurred at around 6:44 a.m. Friday, blocking both lanes of Hwy. 603.

Bedford was pronounced dead at the scene. McNeil was transported to Memorial Hospital in Gulfport, where he remained Friday evening in stable condition.

According to the police field report, the official cause of the accident was failure to yield right-of-way. Bradford was not wearing a seatbelt.

Ronnie Cuevas, administrator for Hancock County

Sheriff Steve Garber's office, said the resulting traffic snarl on the busy highway backed cars up for several miles in both directions and led to a few less serious accidents. Sheriff's deputies assisted at the scene, redirecting traffic to avoid further incidents.

Boating safety classes offered

As boating season unfolds, recreational waterway users can help the Coast Guard and state marine law enforcement agencies protect our U.S. shores by reducing the need for searches, rescues and safety-check boardings.

Boaters can take responsibility for their own safety and the safety of their passengers by following the four principles of Operation BoatSmart:

- (1) Wearing life jackets saves lives
- (2) Boater education saves lives
- (3) Safe boats (safely designed, properly outfitted and well-maintained) save lives
- (4) Safe and sober boating saves lives

"Wearing your life jacket is only the first step to ensure a safe boating venture. Having a marine radio, filing a float plan and keeping a well-maintained boat all play a vital role in your safety on the water," said the Eighth Coast Guard District Commander, Rear Adm. Roy Casto, at the district headquarters in New Orleans.

The Coast Guard has a 30-second public service announcement that will raise awareness about safety on the water. The final frames highlight the Operation BoatSmart web site, www.operationboatsmart.org.

This site provides detailed information on boating safety classes, how to receive a free vessel safety check, comfortable and attractive life jackets, ideas for boating safety education for children and more.

Due to the large number of television stations within the Eighth District's area of operation, which encompasses all or part of 26 states, we distributed a limited number of the tapes to the larger media markets.

Please contact your affiliate in Houston, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, St.

Louis, Louisville, Memphis, Tenn., Mobile, Ala., and Davenport, Iowa for a copy of this public service announcement.

National Safe Boating Week is May 18-24. Now is the ideal time to start this public service announcement and follow-on news stories. Safe boating doesn't have to end May 24.

The story continues throughout the summer with busy boating holidays such as: Memorial Day, Independence Day, and Labor Day weekends and National Fishing and Boating Week, June 1-9.

If you would like to learn more about boating safety issues, in your area or set up interviews with a Coast Guard spokesperson, please contact the Public Affairs Staff at (504) 589-6287.

at which time an employee saw the inappropriate images and brought it to the attention of his superiors.

"After checking his online account, it was determined that some of the images were still on his e-mail address, and they erased the remaining inappropriate images from his account to prevent any attempts to print from the on-line photo printing service."

When the call came in, Lambert assigned the case to Investigator Rita Blaize-Watson, and as she began the investigation, things "began to materialize," Lambert said.

"During the investigation it was determined the subject in the photos that concerned FujiColor was Helen Norris, 55, who gave her address as 6112 E. Grenada in BaySide Park."

Norris was arrested by Lambert, Blaize-Watson and Investigator Bert Johnson on Thursday. She was booked on two counts of bestiality involving a dog. Bond was set at $20,000, and she bonded out, Lambert said.

"Norris resided across the street from 6105 Grenada, and the person residing there, who was not David Bookter, denied that he knew anything about the photos or on-line images. He met him on May 16, and he gave us permission to search the residence and there were three computers in the house and they were confiscated and taken to the sheriff's office to be examined for any possible criminal activity," Lambert said.

Sheriff's officers are still searching for Bookter, Lambert said, and further charges may be pending.

REMEMBERING YOUR
29th BIRTHDAY

From a boy to a young man, you were full of life and surprises. You gave us many gifts on life's journey. Love keeps us close even though we are apart. But none are more precious. Son, than the smile your memory gives to our hearts.
Relying on words to express feelings, fall so far short, of the warm feelings that live in our hearts. You've been gone now for awhile. It was tragic, that you had to part. In our memories we still see your smile. Our love for you will not escape our hearts.

Halter-built vessel christened

Halter Marine, Inc. (HMI), a division of Friede Goldman Halter, Inc. (FGHLQ) announced the christening of the first of two articulated tug-barges (ATE) for long-time customer Management Services - a Crowley Maritime Corporation subsidiary, and part of its Corporate Services segment.

An ATE is built with an articulated pin connection system between the tug and barge that allows movement in the critical area of fore and aft pitch.

Christened Sea Reliance, the 9,280 HP tug design is the result of a joint project between Halter Marine and Vessel Management Services.

The latest environmental and safety advances, including double-sided construction, along with increased efficiencies in hose handling, anchoring, mooring, discharge and loading product are incorporated into the design.

The 155,000-barrel barge, christened 550-1, is double hulled for maximum environmental protection and safety. Built, documented and maintained to the requirements of the American Bureau of Shipping (ABS) SafeHull, the barge is equipped with an inert gas system, enhanced cargo system, and a fully redundant ballast system.

Tug Sea Reliance was built at Moss Point Marine and Barge 550-1 at Port Bienville, two of Halter's Mississippi facilities.

Anil Raj, chief operating officer of Friede Goldman Halter said, "The delivery of these two units is another example of how Halter has continued to successfully build quality vessels for its valued customers during its reorganization process."

"During this one-year period Halter has delivered 13 vessels on nine contracts valued at over $250 million. In the same period Halter has started work on new contracts which, including options, are valued at over $270 million. It is the loyalty and dedication of our employees and customers like Crowley who will ensure Halter's continued success."

Northrop Grumman delivers frigate to Venezuelan Navy

Northrop Grumman Corporation (NYSE: NOC) redelivered the first of two modernized Lupo-class frigates to the Venezuelan Navy May 16. The ships, Mariscal Sucre (F-21), and Almirante Brion (F-22), arrived in Pascagoula in January 1998 to undergo Navy awards perfect score on Cole repairs

Northrop Grumman Corporation (NYSE: NOC) has announced that the U.S. Navy has awarded Northrop Grumman Ship Systems perfect scores for the work accomplished during the final phase of restoration of the Aegis guided missile destroyer USS Cole (DDG 67).

Northrop Grumman Ship Systems received the highest marks possible in the specified performance areas of Schedule, Technical, Management and Cost for the performance period from January through April 2002; and, based on the perfect scores, the Navy awarded Northrop Grumman $3.9 million in performance award fee funding.

The USS Cole, which was redelivered ahead of schedule, sailed from Northrop Grumman Ship Systems' Ingalls facility in Pascagoula, April 19, 2002, and returned to her homeport in Norfolk, Va., April 24, 2002.

Following a terrorist attack in Aden, Yemen, in October 2000, the ship underwent an extensive 14-month restoration project. Exactly 18 months later, the ship went to sea April 12 for her first underway period since the attack, fully testing all systems, including propulsion plant, main machinery and auxiliary machinery that required extensive repair or replacement during the restoration period.

extensive modernization and upgrade. F-22 will be redelivered this summer.

The modernization project aboard the two 20-year-old Italian-built frigates included repairs, modernization and upgrades in most areas, from the ship's hull to propulsion, weapons, electronics and communications systems.

The ship's crew, led by its commanding officer, Cmdr. Jesus Ortega Hernandez, conducted a brief redelivery ceremony for Mariscal Sucre on the east bank facilities of Ingalls Operations.

The project involved the efforts not only of hundreds of craftsmen and technicians at Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, but also an international team of subcontractors and suppliers, including companies in Israel, Italy, Venezuela, Canada, Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, England and Switzerland. All of the personnel involved with this project worked daily with members of the Venezuelan Inspection Commission, who have been living in several communities along the Gulf Coast during the entire project.

The 2,500 DWT frigate is 372 feet (112.8 M) long with a beam of 53 feet (15.9 M) and a draft of 22 feet (6.5 M). The ship's propulsion is supplied by two 35,000 HP gas turbine engines and/or two diesel engines and can power the ship to a top speed of 36 knots. With the modernization, berthing space was reduced from 182 to a crew of 131.

The crew for F-21, which arrived earlier this month, will continue with two more weeks of onboard training. The Mariscal Sucre is scheduled for departure at the end of May.

The event will be Thursday, May 23, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, 697 North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Roberts named VP

Roy Anderson Corp has hired Don Roberts as its new corporate vice president. Roberts lives in Jackson and will work in the office there to oversee the company's growth in and around the state capital.

Roberts recently retired from Bell South, ending a 30-year career. For the past 13 years Roberts headed Bell South's External Affairs organization in Mississippi.

Roy Anderson III, president of Roy Anderson Corp., said Roberts' addition to the team is a sign of the phenomenal growth going on at Roy Anderson Corp.

Roberts is a native of Pascagoula. He has been married for 31 years to the former Jacquelyn Bartlett, also a Pascagoula native. They have three daughters, Jessica (Thomas), Claire, and Emily.

He is a communicant at St. James Episcopal Church in Jackson where he serves as an usher. Roberts was graduated from Mississippi State University in 1971.

Surveys will help determine future economic opportunities

Economic Development agencies in 24 Mississippi counties have joined together for an extensive study of the region's workforce. Hancock County is a participant in this project, and local residents are being called on to help.

Surveys will be mailed to individuals and businesses this week, and a good response is essential in order for Hancock County to be accurately represented in the final results.

"Our job is to prepare Hancock County for future growth and job development," states Hal Walters, executive director of the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission.

"The responses to our survey is a very important part of this process, and we need every individual and business in the community that receives a survey to take the time to complete and return the survey."

A survey of local residents, along with a survey of area employers, will identify key workforce information including:

- Labor requirements of area employers
- Skills and characteristics of the labor force
- Any untapped labor force segments
- The extent of underemployment in the workforce
- Types of employee training needed to keep local businesses competitive

Surveys will be mailed to more than 18,000 households in a 24-county area. Those who receive the survey are asked to complete and return the form by June 14 in the postage-paid envelope provided. All individual responses are confidential.

"Today, businesses seeking to expand or locate are as concerned about the labor force in an area as any other factor. Our communities must address the workforce issues if we are to create quality job opportunities and to meet the needs of industry," notes Walters.

The information gathered will be used in determining training programs, economic development programs, and for industrial recruitment.

The survey is being conducted by the Wadley-Donovan Croup, LTD of Edison, N.J., with assistance from the market research firm Younger Associates of Jackson, Tenn.

Bay, HHS &amp; SSC end on high note

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The storyline was much of the same with Bay High, Hancock, and SSC in their spring football games on Friday. The three teams were looking to get their youth experienced and find depth for their starters.

The night started in Bay St. Louis 'in between the walls' at St. Stanislaus. The Rocks worked spring drills under their new mentor Casey Wittmann.

The new Rock coach is an alum of SSC and has sparked renewed interest in the program during his few short weeks at the helm. On Friday, SSC held a Red/Black scrimmage to end spring drills. The Black team won 21-0 behind two defensive touchdowns and a Robert Ray Smith run.

The Red team threatened several times; however, the Black "D" kept them out of the endzone. Wittmann commented, "We had a very good spring. We feel that we solved some of the gaps that we had coming into spring drills. However, we have a tremendous amount of work ahead of us during the summer. Our work has just begun as a team. Our workouts in the weightroom this summer will mean a whole lot to us next season. The players know that. Our seniors have been solid for us this spring. They are hungry and eager to win and their attitude is rubbing off on the younger players. It has been a fun spring for our team."

Next up on the evening was Hancock in Kiln. The Hawks played a controlled scrimmage with no kicking game against the state 5A runner-up Moss Point Tigers. Each team received 10 offensive plays starting at the 40 yardline.

While the Hawks jumped up to 5A competition last season and fared very well, graduation left some gaps to be filled. The Hawks scored first on the Tigers in the scrimmage when quarterback Brandon Necaie hooked up with David Brown for a 15-yard score.

Myron Fairley ended the Tigers first scoring opportunity with an interception in the endzone. However, on the Tigers second offensive possession, Moss Point scored three touchdowns through the air. Hawk mentor Rocky Gaudin stated, "Coming into the spring, we knew that we needed to establish some depth. During the spring drills, we worked to find 11 players that we could play on each side of the ball. As a team, we feel that we can move the ball. Offensively, we are still looking for a quality split end to give us a deep threat. Tonight, we were able to see the strength of our linebacking corps on defense. At that position, we felt that they would be strong as a unit."

The Bay High Tigers played in the final game of the evening. The Tigers traveled north to Poplarville to take on the Hornets in the Pearl River Community College stadium in a full-contact game.

The Tigers lost 34-14. Monroe Jordan and Brandon Strong did the scoring for the Tigers in the loss.

Head coach Glenn Williams commented, "We felt like improved in some areas that we working hard on. However, we are young team because graduation left us with some gaps. We did improve in some spots that we needed to. However, we have to get better in some spots due to our youth. I thought we had a good spring. We focused more on offense this spring but we have to continue to improve on that side of the ball. The main thing with this team is that we need to get stronger first and then become more fundamental-sound."

While spring training is over the workouts are not. Most teams will lift weights during the summer off-season in preparation for the upcoming season in the fall. The 2002 gridiron season is slated to begin on August 30th.

Safe summer boating tips from BoatU.S.

Ask any experienced boater about boating safety and they will tell you that being prepared will always keep a bad day from getting worse.

With the "Boat Smart From the Start" National Safe Boating Campaign kicking off May 18-24, now is the time to get ready for a safe summer afloat.

BoatU.S., the world's largest association of boat owners and a leading advocate of boating safety, can help you stay safe - and save you money - with a couple of important safe boating tips for both you and your boat:

Educate yourself at home - for free

Prepare yourself by taking a free, U.S. Coast Guard-recognized boating safety course at www.BoatUS.com - clicking on "Boating Safety."

Since 1997, over 200,000 boaters have taken the course in the comfort of their own home, which is also approved by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators.

The course was designed to give a novice or experienced boater a general overview of boat safety basics, requirements, navigation and operation through an interactive format.

A glossary of nautical terms and background study material on the question topics are available through the use of hyperlinks, and most states have provided questions pertaining to regulations in their state.

A certificate is issued upon successful completion, which also may earn an education discount with marine insurers.

Ask the experts for advice - and save some cash

at the same time
Prepare your boat by taking it on June 1 to a participating BoatU.S. Marine Center for a free Vessel Safety Check (VSC). U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and U.S. Power Squadrons co-sponsors will have safety experts on-hand to verify the presence and condition of certain safety equipment required by state and federal regulations.

They'll also be able to answer any questions you may have about safe boating and local educational programs.

All boaters will receive an evaluation form and boats that meet safety requirements will receive a VSC decal.

If safety gear such as life jackets, flares or other related items fail the VSC, boaters can purchase them at a special discount at the store or through BoatU.S. catalog sales at 1-800-937-2628.

For boats in the water, Coast Guard Auxiliary or Power Squadrons personnel will also be arranging appointments for free Vessel Safety Checks on dates after June 1.

For more information about the VSC program, contact the BoatU.S. Marine Center nearest you or go online to www.BoatUS.com to get a list of participating stores.

The National Safe Boating Campaign is sponsored by National Safe Boating Council and the U.S. Coast Guard.

BSLLT salutes veterans with Memorial Day production

By Nan Patton Ehrbright

When Ted Stechmann told the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre board of directors last year that he'd like to direct "Mister Roberts" as the final production of BSLLT's 2001-2002 season and as a tribute to veterans, he had no inkling that the U.S. would be at war again today.

"The reason I wanted to do the play was that I had such fond memories of doing it back in the 1960s," Stechmann said. "It was probably the most fun I've had doing a play."

But now, with Sept. 11, 2001 indelibly burned into our collective memory, things have changed.

So the production that opens on Memorial Day weekend is dedicated to veterans of WWI, WWII, the Korean War, the Gulf War and the "war against terrorism" as well as to the men and women who have served their country honorably and conscientiously during periods of peace.

Tickets for this production are half price for all veterans.

Stechmann has been active in community theatre since the 1950s in nearly every capacity — stagehand, set construction, actor, producer, director.

He has served on the BSLLT board and was a founding member and board president of Waveland Players, which was active in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

He is no stranger to "Mister Roberts." He played Ensign Pulver in an early 1960s BSLLT production of the play.

The play had a profound effect on Stechmann.

"As a young man, the story had such a heavy, emotional impact," he said. "As far as I know, it hasn't been done anywhere on the Coast in the last 20 years. I just thought it was time to do it again."

For this production, Stechmann and co-director Glenda Schornick have assembled a cast of 22 actors from across the Coast. Many have appeared on-stage before; a number of them are making their stage debuts. Several are students.

Playing lead roles in the BSLLT production are Darrell Hughes of Pass Christian as Roberts, Jay Coker of Diamondhead as Pulver, John Harter of Waveland as the Captain and Jack Schornick of Bay St. Louis as Doc.

Stechmann says he is pleased that he is able to "introduce young people to live theatre" with this play; five cast members are 19 or younger. But he is especially proud that one-third of the male cast members are veterans of the Armed Services.

Three have leading roles. Hughes is a veteran of the Military Police and the Louisiana Air National Guard. Harter was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and served 14 years in the Navy. Schornick served in the Navy Seabees from 1969 to 1978.

Other cast veterans include Joseph J. "Johnny" Kersanac, a Marine Corps veteran; Larry Clark, a retired Navy veteran; T.J. Tadej, a retired Navy veteran; and Dick Ehrbright, an Army veteran.

The veterans agree that the script accurately portrays both the camaraderie and the petty scraps that are part of life in the Armed Services.

Harter said the play has brought back a lot of memories for him.

He said he was talking recently with a retired chief master diver.

"I said, 'You know, the time I was in the Navy was probably the best time I had in my working career because of the camaraderie.' There's a big bond among shipmates."

Harter laughed. "But there aren't too many captains like the one in the play."

"Mister Roberts" will open on 8 p.m. May 24 at the Playhouse in the Pines at 301 Boardman Ave. It will be repeated at 8 p.m. May 25, 31 and June 1, with a 2 p.m. matinee on May 26.

The World War II play was based on Thomas Heggen's profoundly moving but also hilarious sketches about life aboard The Reluctant, a drab Navy cargo transport vessel in the Pacific Ocean which never saw action.

Its approach to war was both unorthodox and unromantic, recognizing that boredom is one of the primary conditions and horrors of war.

Joshua Logan wrote the script and directed the original production, which starred Henry Fonda in the role of Mister Roberts, a role he reprised for the movie version directed by John Ford.

Jack Lemmon won acclaim in that version as Ensign Pulver. Other members of the movie production were James Cagney as the heartless, merciless Captain and William Powell as Doc.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $7 for students. A discount is available for groups of 10 or more.

For reservations, call 467-2587.

A word of caution: The play mirrors real life among a group of men living together. It contains strong language and sexual references which may not be appropriate for children.

Author's note: "Mister Roberts" has special significance for me.

My father enlisted in the Navy soon after Pearl Harbor. He was 36, much older than many of the men who served with him. He talked with pride about the monicker they gave him — "The Old Man."

After training, my dad went to Guam to take over the duties of another Navy officer. That officer was Henry Fonda. My father spent several weeks with him, before Fonda returned to civilian life.

Some years later, my parents took my sister and me to Kansas City to see our first professional drama — a matinee of "Mister Roberts." Fonda was reprising his role as Roberts in the touring production.

So, "Mister Roberts" was my introduction to theatre. And, because of a post-shore leave scene in the play, it also was my introduction to sex education.

During that scene, I poked Dad. "Why is everyone laughing? I don't understand."

"Shhh," he said. "Your mother and I will explain later."

That night, they did.

Hydrangeas make perfect plant gifts

SOUTHERN GARDENING
BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

Mother's Day is one of the many good reasons to consider plants as gifts for the special people in your life.

One of the best options is the French hydrangea, but don't let the French affiliation throw you. The hydrangea made its way to the United States during the 1800s and is loved throughout the South.

Although it is called the French hydrangea, it is really from Japan. The French only did a little tweaking, but somehow they've got their stamp on the origination in many gardeners' minds.

The hydrangea has been called the queen of the late-blooming shrubs. They brighten those partially shaded areas of the landscape like no other plant does.

The hydrangea is suited to massing, using as specimen in-between evergreens and even in large containers. The flowers are great for cutting and bringing indoors for drying.

If you think about it, it is remarkable when a plant performs in soils that are either acidic or alkaline. It is even more wonderful that the plant has large pink flowers in soils with the higher pH and blue in the soils with the lower pH.

No other plant seems to garner as many questions on flower color, propagation and drying. No plant can quite reap the amount of frustration, as does a hydrangea, should it ever fail to bloom once in 30 years.

The French hydrangea, also called bigleaf hydrangea, is offered to us with mop-head-shaped flowers that can defy logic with their size. They are also offered in what many connoisseurs of hydrangeas consider the cream of the crop, and that is the lacecap forms.

The lacecap hydrangea is equally beautiful, but not as popular. It should be much better known, but education of the consumer may be the culprit.

Many gardeners think that something has gone wrong when their hydrangea blooms, and it turns out to be a lacecap instead of a mophead-shaped flower. The hydrangeas also come with variegated foliage.

Hydrangeas in the South really prefer morning sun and afternoon shade in a rich organic-amended soil followed by a good layer of

A MATTER OF PRINCIPAL

DeLisle Elementary School Principal Clementine Williams walks down an isle of cheering students on the way to her retirement party in the school gym on Friday.

Williams gets a 'whale' of a going-away party at DeLisle Elem.

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

DeLisle Elementary School Principal Clementine Williams did begin her retirement in a rocking chair, but she did not go quietly. Williams arrived at school on Friday in a white stretch limo, greeted by the children and faculty at the school where she taught for 14 years and has been principal since 1993.

Students had decorated the school and planned a going-away party for Williams complete with entertainment, food, music and lots of hugs and kisses.

Williams was presented the "seat of honor," a wicker rocking chair, from where she watched with teary eyes as each class honored her with songs, a recorder concert, skits, and poems.

A large whale made by the students symbolized the theme for the day. Signs sporting such messages as "fare whale Mrs. Williams" decorated the school.

Williams entered the gymnasium to the crowd singing "we will miss you" sung to the tune of the rock song We Will Rock You. The Harrison County Sheriff's Department served Williams with an arrest warrant for dedicating her life to the Pass Christian School District.

The first grade presented the butterfly skit and song, an original, complete with paper butterflies. "You are the wind beneath our wings," they sang. Other songs included "When the Saints Come Marching In," "You Are Our Hero," and an old favorite by Cab Calloway.

Each grade presented Williams with flowers and other gifts and came in turn to give her a good-bye hug. After the assembly the fifth grade teachers and students honored her with a tree planting ceremony. Then Williams took a tour of the school to look at decorations prepared in her honor.

Williams comes from a family of six girls. Her father was Chief of Police in Bay St. Louis from 1979 until illness forced him to retire from work in 1985,

The way we were

We don't have a mailbox in front of our house. We get our mail at a box in the small Post Office in Waveland. Each day, at about 11:30, I get in the car and make the short, rather pleasant drive along the beach road to Coleman Avenue to get our mail.

The whole trip doesn't take very long and makes a nice break in the day's activities. At the Post Office, I usually see people I know and stop and chat or argue with Terrie, the postmistress, about her putting too many bills in our box.

I tell her that whenever she sees a large load of bills accumulating in our box to put them in other people's boxes, sort of a share the debt sort of thing. So far she has refused to do this, but I keep working on her.

Normally, all of this takes at the most a half hour and then I'm back home in time to feed Jennie and to explore what Stella has left me for lunch in the refrigerator. This is during the week. On Saturdays, it's different. It takes a little longer.

I should add that on these daily runs, I usually

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza La Violette laviolette@mail.datasync.com park in the lot immediately adjoining the Post Office. It's actually closer to their main door and omits my having to go up the winding disability ramp.

The lot where I park belongs to a combined flea market and antique store. I park, usually glance in the window at the curios they have there, wave at Mary Ann the hard working proprietor, and head into the Post office. On Saturdays, Stella is with me. After we park, she goes left into the store, I go right into the Post Office.

This last Saturday, I did the usual thing after picking up the mail, that is hurrying inside the store hoping to be in time to stop Stella from buying that little bit of fruwfraw that invariably catches her eye.

I had a hard time finding her, however, as I found myself distracted, wandering down aisles after aisle looking at things that appeared interesting or just brought back memories.

Since the television series started several years ago, people have become more sophisticated about antiques and the monetary values they have to collectors.

I think however that the show often emphasizes the wrong values of the pieces that they show. To me their real value lies in what they represent rather than the money for which they can be sold.

Weddings and Engagements

Kolodziej-Burke

The marriage of Miss Kaaren Rose Kolodziej of Ocean Beach, Calif. and Mr. Michael Patrick Burke of San Diego, Calif. was solemnized March 9, 2002 during an afternoon Nuptial Mass at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Kolodziej of Diamondhead. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Burke of Sage, Calif.

The ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Henry McInerney.

Musical selections were presented by soloist Shelia Twiggs, pianist Alana Rutledge, and the Sunderland String Quartet.

Readings from scripture and prayers of the faithful were rendered by Catherine Holley of New Orleans; Laura Haas of Washington, D.C.; and Erin Shannon of Scottsdale, Ariz.

Offertory gift bearers were Mr. and Mrs. William Scalia of Port St. Lucie, Fla.

Eucharistic ministers were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Harris of Bay St. Louis, and their son, William, was the altar server.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal Amsale gown of white silk and Alencon lace.

The bodice featured a bateau neckline and short cap sleeves. A full skirt fell from a dropped waistline and swept into a cathedral train.

Heidi Hitt of Leucadia, Calif. was the maid of honor, and Kelly Cunningham of South Riding, Va. attended her sister as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Tamara Burke of Dover, N. J., sister-in-law of the bride, and Kimberly Zebuda of Leucadia, Calif. The attendants were attired in identical amethyst floor-length gowns designed by Dessy Creations.

The flower girl was Catherine Cunningham, goddaughter and niece of the bride.

John Patrick Cunningham, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Best man was Andrew Burke of Virginia Beach, Va., brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were Brian Burke of Metuchen, N. J., and Kevin Burke of Dover, N. J., both brothers of the groom; and Christopher Kolodziej of Arlington, Va., brother of the bride.

Ushers were Christian Hynes and John Hynes, both of San Diego, Calif.

Following the ceremony, a dinner reception was held at the Diamondhead Country Club with music provided by FLITE of Folsom, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Burke hosted a rehearsal dinner at The Bridges in Bay St. Louis for the families, wedding party, and out-of-town guests.

The bridesmaids' luncheon was hosted by Kelly Cunningham and Catherine Cunningham at Armand's in Waveland.

A brunch was hosted on the morning after the wedding by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Kolodziej at the Diamondhead Country Club. A miscellaneous bridal shower had been previously hosted by Miss Heidi Hitt at the home of her mother, Mrs. Janet Hitt, in Bay St. Louis.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to South Africa, Zimbabwe, and Kenya, the couple will reside in Ocean Beach, Calif.

RN, Med/Surg • 9 years at CMC

The Chalmette Plan...it's what nursing was intended to be.

CMC believes a hospital doesn't have to be an impersonal environment with overworked nurses. So, we're changing the way healthcare is delivered. We've capped nurse/patient ratios to allow nurses to give patients the time and care they need. And we give our nurses the tools to better monitor and treat their patients.

The Chalmette Plan offers nurses:

- Capped nurse/patient ratios.
- Signing bonuses and loan reimbursements.
- RN Nurse Tech Program for Junior and Senior students includes mentoring from experienced nurses and hands-on learning.
- LPN Student Nurse Program that puts your skills to work while you learn.
- Market competitive salaries.
- A Night Shift Bonus for Med/Surg nurses.
- CMC offers benefits comparable to national packages and more than competitive within the local market.

To find out more about The Chalmette Plan, call 504-620-6165.

At CMC, we're working together, to make life better. Not just on the outside, but from within. One person...one employee...one patient at a time.

Exchange Youth of the Month

Janell Nolan, left, youth chairperson and senior marketing representative for Coast Electric Power Association; Karolina Sarnowska, April Youth of the Month; Courtney Thomas, occupational network coordinator for Hancock Medical Center; and Adrian Mastenbaugh, Hancock High School counselor.

Sarnowska is Outstanding Youth of the Month for April

The Exchange Club of Hancock County has named Karolina Sarnowska as their Youth of the Month for April. Sarnowska is the daughter of Beata and Krzysztof Sarnowska of Diamondhead.

The club presented Sarnowska with the honorary award at their weekly meeting on April 11. Hancock Medical Center sponsored the April Youth of the Month and presented Sarnowska with a $50 Savings Bond.

As a senior at Hancock High School, Sarnowska has received numerous honors and awards. She has earned recognition as a National Merit Finalist, Star Student, Advanced Placement Scholar, Boeing Most Outstanding Math & Science Student, National Honor Society, National Spanish Honor Society, and Superintendent's Honor Roll. Throughout her educational career, she has earned several Academic Achievement awards, placed second in the USM/NASA Physics Competition and placed first in the Mu Alpha Theta Trigonometry State Test.

She is actively involved as a volunteer within the community, and attended the Lott Leadership Fall Conference at Ole Miss, the Hearin Leadership Conference at MUW, and the Mississippi Governor's School. Each month, nearly 1,000 Exchange Clubs throughout the United States and Puerto Rico honor a young-man or woman as their club's Youth of the Month.

The students who receive this award have shown academic and leadership excellence. These outstanding youths go on to compete for the Hancock County Exchange Club Youth of the Year, District Youth of the Year, and ultimately the National Youth of the Year Award.

The National Exchange Club is a group of men and women working to make America a better place to live through one national project, the prevention of child abuse and other community service projects. The club's goal is to become the premier service club in America by igniting the spirit of community service throughout the nation.

The Hancock County Exchange Club meets every Thursday at noon at the Waveland Holiday Inn.

USM alumna receives Madison Fellowship

A University of Southern Mississippi alumna is the state's only recipient of a James Madison Fellowship.

Melissa Harris of Long Beach, a U.S. history teacher at Pass Christian High School, will be returning to her alma mater to seek a master's degree in U.S. history with emphasis on the principles, framing and the history of the U.S. Constitution.

Harris received a master's degree in special education, but received a teaching certification in history, a subject for which she has a passion.

She competed with teachers from throughout the nation to obtain the fellowship.

"My teaching skills base is very strong from my special education background," said Harris, "but I want to deepen and strengthen my knowledge base."

Harris said she is "truly humbled" to be chosen to receive the fellowship, which funds up to $24,000 of each Fellow's course of study.

Founded by act of Congress in 1986, the James Madison Memorial Fellowship Foundation established the fellowship to "recognize promising and distinguished teachers, strengthen their knowledge of the origins and development of American constitutional government, and thus expose the nation's secondary school students to accurate knowledge of the nation's constitutional heritage."

Harris plans to continue teaching while taking courses, primarily at USM's Gulf Park campus.

Her course work, which will begin in the fall, will include a summer institute next year at Georgetown University, where she will focus on constitutional development.

A U.S. history and advanced placement history teacher since 1991, she also has taught at Pass Christian Middle School and the alternate high school in Gulfport.

Harris has lived on the Gulf Coast since 1981. She is married to Leo Harris and has two grown children, Sarah and Andrew.

Food experts are killing us

"Well-aged: Dining With Dignity," is a great title which presents a picture of elderly people being given the low-down on what to eat, how to prepare it, how much to eat and when to eat it.

Alas, what a letdown I suffered when I plowed into this article in the food section of the daily paper of May 9, 2002! Ginny Walters, shocked and distraught by the neglected, deplorable condition of her Alzheimer's-ridden grandmother in a nursing home, decided to do the book.

A quote from the book is the highlight of the article: "Apples and bananas are great for everybody, but a peach or an apricot actually contains more of the nutrients that elderly people need." From there on, the article and the book go mainly downhill, crash-landing into unhealthy consequences.

One glimpse at the modified food pyramid on page four destroys whatever validity the proposed "Dining With Dignity" might have. The bottom of the pyramid is good, showing eight eight-ounce servings of water, although it should have stipulated distilled water, the only water lacking inorganic minerals which the body combines with cholesterol and forms plaque.

The remainder of the pyramid is in great part a disturbing, scary study of the almost ineradicable effects of a mistaken, distorted food culture which drives us to what tastes best, smells best, looks best and feels best while we are eating. It so happens that, with hardly an exception, the foods which taste and smell best are the ones which are cholesterol-, fat-, salt- and sugar-laden.

All of us know how destructive these are, because we are surrounded by folks suffering from diabetes, cancer, various heart ailments, hypertension, arthritis, gout, allergies and claudication.

Without ruling out white bread, from which wheat germ and bran have been bootied, the second tier of the pyramid blindly touts bread, fortified cereal, rice and pasta. First of all, no food needs fortifying unless processing has killed its nutrients. So, all the above must be whole, unprocessed. There is very little nutritional sense to the second tier without that proviso. The third tier, or middle of the pyramid, is the salvation of the entire pyramid. It is comprised of what is called the vegetable group, three or more servings, and the fruit group, two or more servings.

These are the groups whose strength is the absence of all animal products, and the presence of multiple, live, powerful, organic, rejuvenating nutrients produced by the unique work of the plant kingdom.

It is these nutrients alone which our body is able to process efficiently, almost completely, and without the harmful, eventually lethal, side effects which animal-based nutrients cause.

While the second tier is bad because it does not specify whole grain, the fourth tier is bad of itself with very skimpy redeeming features.

This is the milk, yogurt and cheese group with three or more servings, plus the meat, poultry, fish, dry beans, eggs and nut group, two or more servings. The only salvation within this group is the dry beans and the nuts.

Milk products are notorious producers of excessive mucus, and contribute heavily to the production of plaque and general sludge in the circulatory system. The sticky, goopy animal cholesterol in milk products aids and abets diabetes by covering and shutting the insulin receptors of all our body cells.

As for the rest of tier four, suffice it to say that breast cancer, prostate cancer, colon cancer, stomach cancer, hemorrhoids, varicose veins, arthritis, gout and rheumatism do not come about among peoples anywhere who stay away from meats, seafoods, milk products and their derivatives.

If the above-mentioned diseases have already set in but are not too deeply advanced, abstinence from animal cholesterol plus the generous intake of mostly uncooked fruits and vegetables will stop their progress and will initiate their retreat when our body's 300 million spanking-new, healthy cells each minute drive out the wild cells which trigger cancer and other ills.

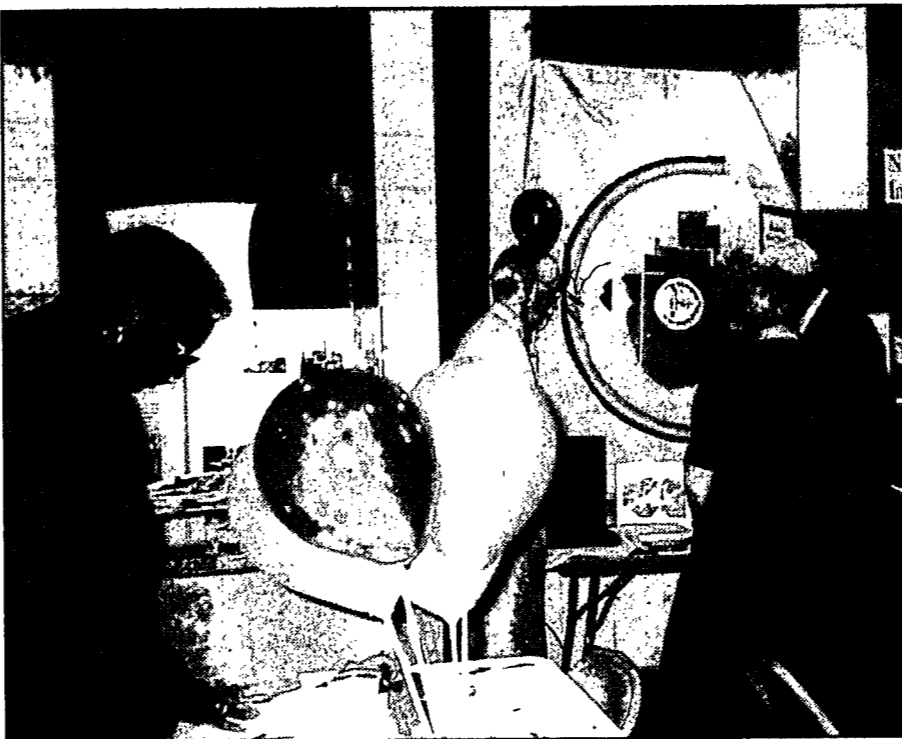

The top of the pyramid consists of fats, oils and sweets, which we are advised to use sparingly, and also calcium, vitamin D and vitamin B-12 as supplements if one's doctor recommends them. The huge omission here is: oils should be only vegetable, and sweets are a liability without assets.

This is not a pyramid of life, because most of the foods it recommends are items which our bodies handle fairly well when we are young, despite their toxic nature. However, as we age, our bodies gradually lose their ability to be healthy in spite of our consumption of harmful foods and drinks.

Let's not kid ourselves. What is going on here is a game of options.

We can choose to enjoy as much and as often as we dare of the indisputably tasty fats, salts, sweets and varieties of flesh of Cholesterol Alley. The penalty, of course, will eventually be the sharp, crippling pains of disease.

Or, calling on God's almighty help, we can forgo most, if not all, the pleasures of animal foods. The reward, of course, is a virtually pain-free body, and rejuvenated muscles hungry for frequent exercise.

Church Mission Sunday

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

On April 21, Main Street United Methodist Church, Bay St. Louis, held its first Mission Sunday and Fair to meet its covenant missionary, Sally Bevil, of the Mississippi Hispanic Ministries, and share information about the many outreach projects in which the church is or may be involved.

Rev. Bevil delivered a message at both worship services, challenging the congregation to follow the call of Jesus and seek out and serve those in need. A lunch of fiesta and fair food followed in Rebecca Hall.

Representatives of the various outreach projects introduced themselves and told a little about their ministries inviting the fair-goers to visit their displays, where they had more information and could answer questions more specifically.

The ministries represented were Dos Amigos (eyeglasses for Belize), Hancock County Food Pantry, Hope Haven Children's Shelter, Center for Seamen and Truckers (Gulfport), United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR), Mountain TOP (Tennessee Outreach Project) and Josh McDowell Ministries.

Also, Student Venture/Campus Crusade, the Women's Center for Non-violence, Salvation Army, the Heifer Project, United Methodist Women's mission projects and missionaries, Honduras Mission Ministries, Gulfside United Methodist Assembly (Waveland), Seashore Mission (Biloxi), Christmas in April (Hancock County), and Navajo Missions (Arizona and Utah).

And, Mississippi Hispanic Ministries (headquartered in Forest, Miss.), Hancock County Thrift Shop, United Methodist apportionment spending, Hancock County United Methodist Church Cluster, Choctaw Mission (Philadelphia, Miss.), United Methodist Youth (cookbook sales to help finance their mission trips), and Boy Scout Troop #360.

More than 100 people enjoyed this fun and informative event, which concluded with the breaking of a piñata by the children.

It's commencement time

It's commencement time. High schools, colleges and universities are sending young men and women on to the next level of training, employment and life.

Speakers charge graduates to vigorously address the challenges and opportunities before them. Their training, vision, strength and perseverance will hold them in good stead. Commencement is the time a new phase of life begins, commences.

Oddly, little is said about eternal verities. Yet our society desperately needs young men and women having high moral standards.

These standards are rooted in eternal truth, the Ten Commandments.

These Commandments come from God. Obedience to these Commandments preserves the sanctity of family, property, marriage and truth.

Fidelity and honesty become top priorities in business, family and personal life. Days of hatred, dishonesty, unfaithfulness and violence are left behind. Graduates can lead in this new phase of life.

Little is also said of the ultimate commencement. When we lay down our labors and pass from this life, that's not the end. The body dies; the soul lives on.

Through faith in Jesus Christ, we graduate to a life of unmitigated joy. Revelation 21:4 describes it.

"He [God] will wipe away every tear from their eyes; and there will no longer be any mourning, or crying, or pain; the first things have passed away." This is the ultimate commencement.

Hancock's Local Newspaper since 1892

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Local student hits the mark with 'Reality Check' entry

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Lindsey Trotter, a seventh grader at Bay-Waveland Middle School, won third place in the Reality Check poster design and essay contest sponsored by The Partnership for a Healthy Mississippi.

Lindsey's award-winning poster design was selected from more than 1,500 entries submitted from across the state.

The contest was open to students in grades 6 through 12. The top three winners were selected from entries for each grade.

The contest challenged students to use their creative writing or drawing talents to address the dangers of tobacco use. The topics for the contest were:

Essay 1: You are a celebrity. How would you use your fame to tackle Big Tobacco and spread the word about the dangers of tobacco use?

Essay 2: You are caught in a situation with people who are smoking. How would you tell them about the damage their second-hand smoke is causing you and anyone else around them?

Poster Topic: Every day we see advertisements promoting tobacco.

Design your own Reality Check poster, and describe how it will be used to make people think twice about the dangers of using tobacco.

The top three winners in each grade received cash awards, as did their schools. The Partnership for a Healthy Mississippi distributed contest information to public and private schools statewide through its network of local community coalitions.

The Partnership for a

Farmall Power... Delivered!

Replica is approx. 10.5" long

• 365 Day Guarantee. The Best in the Business.

Two Farmall 460 Tractors and a classic tractor trailer in an authentic 4-piece collector's set

For America's farmers, the 20th century was the age of International Harvester. IH's innovative and reliable tractors and equipment arrived on the farm and helped fuel an agricultural revolution. No Farmall tractor worked harder than the Model 460 which brought new power and versatility to the growing farms of the Midwest in the 1960's.

Now, to celebrate the proud tradition of Farmall, two authentic replicas of the legendary Farmall 460 are headed your way in a remarkable new four-piece die-cast collector's set. Riding high on a detachable flatbed trailer towed by a 1960 Mack B-61 truck replica, these two workhorses are fresh from the factory and ready to tackle the toughest farm chores. Engineered and built in 1:64 scale by Ertl®, #1 in die-cast collectibles for over 50 years. Both truck and tractors boast signature red paint, vintage logos and a wealth of detail: rubber tires, a contoured tractor seat, a detailed diesel tractor engine, chrome-finished truck grille and exhaust stack, engraved headlights and more. Officially licensed by Case Corporation and Mack with a Certificate of Authenticity.

Mother's Little Gems Pendant

To a mother, each child is a precious jewel. Her love for each child is the same, yet different. Now, the artists of Lenox have created an heirloom-quality pendant, reflecting a mother's special affection for her children.

Genuine gemstones

The Mother's Little Gems Pendant is an open heart of solid sterling silver designed to be personalized with genuine birthstones—diamonds, sapphires, rubies and more—representing the months of the year. The mother's birthstone will be mounted at the top of the pendant, and the children's birthstones will be suspended from the heart.

For yourself or a special mother

The Mother's Little Gems Pendant is available direct from Lenox at $95, payable in convenient monthly installments. A Certificate of Authenticity and 20" matching chain with lobster clasp will accompany the sterling silver birthstone pendant.

Pendant and gems shown actual size: (left to right) amethyst, diamond in an "illusion" setting, and blue topaz.

To place your order for this imported Lenox® pendant, simply indicate your desired birthstones on the attached Order Form. Then mail the completed form by the date indicated. Your full satisfaction is guaranteed.
